LEED for Existing Buildings - Opportunities for change

Buildings produce almost half of the carbon dioxide emitted in the US each year. They consume 75% of the electricity generated. The good news is they can do better - a lot better. Come and learn how.

Michael Shilale, of Michael Shilale Architects, LLP, will be the guest speaker at the dinner. He will describe why existing buildings are prime opportunities for reducing carbon emissions and energy use. He will discuss the LEED-EB rating system and strategies for implementing improvements in building systems, water and energy use.

Green Buildings Can Reduce...
*GreenSource, Inc. & Frank R. (2008). Energy performance of LEED for New Construction buildings. Final report.
EPA, U.S. GSA. (2008). The Green and Efficient Benefits of Green Buildings: A Report on Customer Satisfaction, Satisfaction, Building Use Hours
 EPA Public Buildings Service (2008). Assessing green building performance: A and occupancy measurement of LEED buildings.

Attend the dinner to listen and ask questions— while dining and at the Clubhouse at Patriot Hills (directions attached). Join us for an evening of good food and great company. Attendance will also qualify you for 1 hour towards the State mandated 4-hour annual training.

We look forward to seeing you at the dinner!
